First, make sure you apply for financial aid using the FAFSA; you may qualify for federal Stafford and/or PLUS Loans which are less expensive than private alternative loans. If you do not qualify for federal student loans or if you need additional loans, then you can investigate these other loans known as private or alternative educational loans. Sac State has not completed a review process for private alternative lenders. The information in this document is believed to be correct as of this printing, but is not warranted and is subject to change without notice. This list has been prepared as guidance to borrowers based upon our knowledge of lenders who offer private alternative loans. Sac State does not receive any incentives from lenders to be included on this list; this list does not cover all lenders. You are not required to select a lender from this list. The choice of a lender is a decision and responsibility of the borrower.
